Notes from the last meeting... about 20 people showed up to hear from a Lubbock city councilman. Before the speaker was introduced, several items were discussed. We are also likely gaining a new member (details in future newsletters). Basketball recruitment, scholarships, and other club business was discussed. Matt White introduced the speaker (pic below). Steve Massengale is the CEO of Advanced Graphix and The Matador, but more importantly is married to a past president of Caprock AMBUCS. Steve also serves on the city council and he is a wealth of knowledge. He started with reminding everyone to sign up for mobile alerts at www.LBKalert.com. Steve said that loop 88 construction will start in 2021 and Lubbock will join ERCOT in June of next year. Steve also detailed out several other multi-million dollar projects that are planned and are being discussed. There were no questions about the taxes or the tax rate. Steve dedicates a lot of time on city matters and is compensated with dozens of dollars. The meeting ended without a ring of the bell, but Gary Johnson did make a suggestion to add a joke of the day.
